Role Description

Are you passionate about reptiles and love sharing knowledge with others? Our reptile centre is looking for enthusiastic volunteers to help deliver engaging educational outreach sessions in schools, Nursing homes, community groups and at local events around Sussex and surrounding areas.

As a Reptile Education Outreach Volunteer, you will play a key role in helping people understand and appreciate reptiles, their habitats, and the importance of conservation and responsible animal care.

What you'll do:

- Assist with educational talks and workshops
- Help run outreach stands at community events and school visits
- Support safe reptile demonstrations and encounters
- Share fascinating facts and help challenge myths about reptiles
- Help inspire the next generation of reptile enthusiasts and conservation supporters

What we're looking for:

- A passion for reptiles and wildlife education
- Confidence speaking with children and the public
- Friendly, reliable team players
- Willingness to learn about Reptile handling and welfare (Training provided)
- Relevant experience/hold at least a Level 3 qualification in Animal management, reptile studies or zoology

What you'll gain:

- Hands-on experience with reptiles
- Public engagement and education experience
- The chance to make a real impact for reptile welfare and conservation
- A supportive team of fellow animal lovers

We accept young people in our team however anyone under the age of 16 must be always accompanied by an adult. An Enhanced DBS check shall be required as a part of the role, due to the nature of the role.
